

SADOWSKY CREATES NEW GUITAR STRING LINE

NOTED GUITAR BUILDER Roger Sadowsky created a new line of Sadowsky strings in collaboration with Richard Cocco of E.O. Mari, Inc. The electric bass, electric guitar and acoustic guitar strings are available in a variety of gauges and materials to suit different tastes and playing styles.

Featuring a hex core for added reliability in combination with a slinky, playable feel, Sadowsky Electric Guitar Strings are available in Regular Nickel roundwound for a brighter, sparkling tone; Pure Nickel roundwound for a warmer, more full-bodied “jazz” sound, and Flatwound. Sadowsky is also collaborating with Jimmy Bruno on a unique new “polished roundwound” guitar string offering the best of both formats. All guitar strings are available in popular gauge sizes.

Sadowsky Electric Bass strings for four- and five-string instruments are available in Stainless Steel roundwound long string life, along with the brighter-sounding 80/20 Bronze strings, also featuring a hex core and supple playing tension.

As Sadowsky puts it, “It is our hands-on use of our own strings that give us a level of quality control that few can approach. When I decided to create my own strings, I insisted they reflect the same level of quality and passion I’ve always brought to my instruments. From the color and brightness of the wrap wire, to the feel, tension and tone, no detail has escaped my attention.”

(light and standard weights) for those who prefer a brighter, more highly defined sound; the new Bright Nickel strings, darker overall yet still bright enough to cut through the mix, and the new Flatwound bass strings.

Bringing the same measure of excellence to acoustic instruments, Sadowsky Acoustic Guitar strings are available in Phosphor Bronze which feature a warm tone and hex core for
